

Elena Bonfiglioli

Elena Bonfiglioli is Director of Corporate Responsibility for Microsoft Europe Middle East and Africa( EMEA). Elena leads strategy, program development, partnership building and policy advocacy on Health, Education, Skills and Employability, Environmental Sustainability and Accessibility. Elena has been with Microsoft for almost seven years in the role of Director CSR. Formerly Elena run the Community Affairs team for Microsoft EMEA leading the kick off and development of the Unlimited Potential community investment program for Microsoft in the region. Elena co-funded the Women in Leadership (WiL) in the Information Society Network. She currently chairs various groups and advocacy organizations in the CSR and ICT areas. Elena was one of the founders of the European Alliance on Skills for Employability and she currently acts as Chair. She also leads the Digital Europe i2010 Lisbon policy group and also co-chairs the e-Skills Industry Leadership Board (ILB), a coalition of leading companies and stakeholders committed to developing e-skills for an inclusive and competitive Europe. In 2008 she has been part of the EU Commission DG INFSO Expert Group on Digital Literacy. Elena is a Board Member of CSR Europe and member of the Business Board of the European Academy of Business in Society.